

It takes a Village

to support children in foster care and the families who serve them.

It's not often that you receive a crystal clear picture of what you are supposed to do with your life, what your purpose is, or how God wants you to serve. But it didn't just hit us out of nowhere. God planted the seed in our hearts and watered it over the next two years. Once we were at the point of complete surrender; He literally changed our lives!

My husband Thomas and I began fostering in 2016 and we have welcomed 54 children into our home. While that might sound like a lot, the sad reality is that for every one child we have said yes to, we had to say no to five others. That's really hard! And there are times when I need a break mentally, physically, and emotionally. We have to fill up our cup to have the stamina to keep going.

We receive support and encouragement from a village of people. Our church family supports us through prayer weekly, especially for upcoming court dates, or big decisions that need to be made. Our life group runs to Costco for snacks when teenagers CLEAN OUT our pantry. Grandparents bring food when we are too overwhelmed to think straight, or watch kiddos when we have to be in court or so we can go on a date.

In addition to clothes and toiletries and items for the children, PS I Love You provides Mom nights, so I can get away and take a breath with my foster mom friends. At Christmas, I don't have to worry or plan extra shopping because I know PS I Love You will do so much for the foster children. It truly takes a village of support, from those within foster care and those outside of foster care. Everyone can be part of the village!

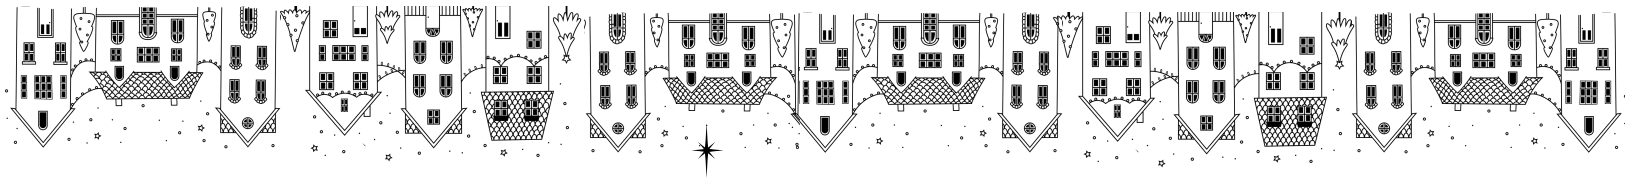

Caroline
Foster parent

Scan this code with your phone, and click on the link to Watch the story of how Caroline met the PS I Love You village

Bolling Spring, SC 29316
PO Box 162242

Foster families need a village of support.
Create a COMMUNITY OF JOY
by providing resources and training with

ps! love you